Do Call In !

Adding its own contribution to the scenery is the local flora, varying with the season of the year from the greenest natural grass to the yellow whin blossom and purple heather.

Such are the pleasurable distractions the visiting golfer can expect to experience in East Sutherland. Having overcome these he can get down to the business of playing golf. Many paragraphs have been written about the Royal Dornoch course and its history, rightfully making it a mecca for golfers from all over the world. Thus it will suffice to observe that Royal Dornoch could house any competition from a monthly medal to the British Open. Golspie, somewhat shorter in yards, offers a variety in the space of 18 holes the equal of which would be hard to find. Brora, with wide open spaces, gives the impression of being trouble-free and not too difficult; this is a deceiving impression, for accurate and well struck shots are required to equal the par of this course.

To revive the experiences of regular friends and to stimulate the interest of potential friends three holes from each of the three main 18-hole courses are worthy of special mention.

Royal Dornoch — Hole 2 ("Ord"); 180 yds, Par 3: This is a glorious par three — a plateau green with deep sand bunkers to the front, left and right of green. To miss this green with the tee shot makes a par 3 very difficult. Hole 4 ("Achinchanter"), 417 yds, Par 4 — Accurate drive necessary to left part of fairway, which slopes from left to right, with a drop off right verge; raised green, well guarded by sand bunkers. The average player is more than pleased to

ROYAL BURGH OF DORNOCH

The County Town of Sutherland

An Ancient Cathedral Town, small and tranquil, lying by the sea in the mild, dry South-East corner of the County

HAS

Its roots in the precincts of its ancient cathedral, the building of which was begun in the 13th Century, when the Burgh became one of the fourteen cities of Scotland. The ecclesiastical and golfing traditions of Dornoch have proved compatible and given to the Ancient and Royal Burgh a character unique amongst the county towns of Scotland.

The Second Oldest GOLF course mentioned in history still in use; a Championship Course rated by Americans as one of the Six Best in the World; an attractive Sporting 9-hole Course; miles of Clean, Golden SANDS with Safe Bathing in Shallow Sun-Warmed Seas.

A CARAVAN AND CAMPING Site without equal in the County — designed for Health, Safety and Comfort.

Swimming, Tennis, Bowling, Sailing, Angling for Brown and Sea Trout — all available in the Burgh or nearby.

No Parking Problems; Open Roads with No Traffic Queues; Peerless Scenery of Mountain and Moor; Green Links, Blue Lochs and the Sea. Ample First-class Hotel, Boarding House and other Accommodation.

SUTHERLAND is the land of the Golden Eagle and Buzzard; Pine Marten and Wild Cat; Brochs and Earth-houses and Hut Circles. It is one of the bastions of the ancient civilisation of Scotland.

DORNOCH is the ideal centre from which to see it.
