SUMMER EDITION 1996

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

I am sure that Andrew Carnegie is smiling upon us all from above. Membership of The Carnegie Club at Skibo Castle is growing rapidly and we expect to close membership by the end of 1997. We will have established a club with members from about 30 countries whose camaraderie and enjoyment of our extensive and unique facilities truly represents something very special. Our members now include people from all walks of life, both famous and not so famous, who enjoy the bond with Skibo Castle as house guests. In the meantime we continue to welcome non members for an introductory visit affording both the visitor and the Club the opportunity to consider membership.

How lucky we are that our links course has been chosen for the great golf match between Greg Norman and Fred Couples. This historic event will be televised by ABC TV and enjoyed by viewers in over 100 countries. The rivalry and quality of our links golf course together with the magic of Skibo's 7,500 acres complements our Club House - the Castle itself.

Since my last message we have established Stapleford Park in England as an outpost of the Club in addition to the Club outpost in the heart of London. We shall continue to establish outposts in other countries where our guests can enjoy "the finer things of life". In each case the property will possess a uniqueness, character and style befitting the tastes and standards of Andrew Carnegie.

The Carnegie Club continues to support, through its charitable activities, the furtherance of endeavours to help young people in need, as befits the philanthropic spirit of Andrew Carnegie.

Our staff are dedicated to a way of life as opposed to a job. Their friendliness and willingness to serve is shared, with me, in bringing to you an incomparable experience.

The continuing support of our members recommending the Club to their friends is certainly the best to establish our goals and continue the meaning of Andrew Carnegie's own words, "Skibo is Heaven on Earth".

The Carnegie Club opens new English Outpost at Stapleford Park.

This glorious stately home set in the heart of the beautiful English countryside is about 1 hour by train and 2 hours by car from London. Stapleford Park as an outpost of the Carnegie Club has 51 individually designed bedrooms, and exceptional reception rooms including the converted original indoor riding school which allows up to 200 people for parties or other activities. Guests can enjoy superb accommodation, exceptional cuisine and all the sporting pursuits, including horse riding, which you would expect to find on a private estate of this magnificence.

The hospitality befits the tradition of the Carnegie Club and provides guests with a wonderful experience which is quintessentially English.

Our renovations will be completed by October 1st and include the addition of a full Carnegie Spa and indoor swimming pool housed within the orangery adjoining the house. A Carnegie links golf academy will be ready for play during 1997. The gardens and grounds are outstandingly beautiful and peaceful which together with the house provide much sort after tranquillity and restfulness in a private and exclusive environment.

Stapleford Park is currently open for the enjoyment of all guests.
