The Way We Are Today

Outside Russell Smith's excellent job survey I have put together a companion report which contains some statistics obtained from The Highland Council that may interest the reader.

Where do the rich live?

Which is the poorest community in Sutherland?

What percentage of our housing are second homes or holiday lets?

It is all here and much more: some of the statistics may surprise you.

The Index of Multiple Deprivation, SIMD06, needs an explanation. It is a cocktail of a large number of statistics that purport to show how well off (or not) a community is. It depends whether you judge a glass as half full or half empty, I suppose.

What none of these statistics reveal is the pent up demand for housing. There are over 100 names on the social housing list and house prices have doubled in recent years putting housing out of range of most locals and young families wishing to settle here.

A quality Sunday newspaper recently described Dornoch as a boom town. People wish to live here. It is very important that we make sure that the quality of life and environment that they wish to enjoy is not degraded and subsumed. There must be a return to the traditional urbanism and we should reject 50 years of suburban and bad new town development that has failed to deliver places that are as enduringly successful and meaningful as old Dornoch is.

I have tried my best to enshrine these principals in the new Sutherland plan. It must be remembered that the interests of Dornoch Parish do not always coincide with most of the rest of East Sutherland. History has taught us that.

JSA claimant count records the number of people claiming Jobseekers Allowance (JSA) and National Insurance credits at Jobcentre Plus local offices.

People claiming JSA must declare that they are out of work, capable of, available for and actively seeking work during the week in which the claim is made.

The percentage figures express the number of claimants resident in an area as a percentage of the working age population resident in that area.

To ensure data do not allow the disclosure of confidential information, all counts have been adjusted using a variant of controlled rounding to avoid the disclosure of any personal information. In some cases, the derivations of variables do not always sum up to the total variable. This occurs in cases where the claimant's age or gender is recorded as unknown. All cells have been rounded to the nearest 5 and the total equals the sum of the disaggregation shown. Any count that is shown as zero may not be a real zero.

Pension Credit is an entitlement for people aged 60 or over living in Great Britain. Pension Credit guarantees everyone aged 60 and over an income of at least:

£114.05 a week if you are single

£174.05 a week if you have a partner

To ensure data do not allow the disclosure of confidential information, all counts have been adjusted using a variant of controlled rounding to avoid the disclosure of any personal information.

In some cases, the derivations of variables do not always sum up to the total variable. This occurs in cases where the claimant's age or gender is recorded as unknown. All cells have been rounded to the nearest 5 and the total equals the sum of the disaggregation shown. Any count that is shown as zero may not be a real zero.

Dear Sir

CLOSE ONTO THE STREET AND BIG BACKYARDS

Following our conversation on the telephone this morning, I should like to confirm that policies on layout, design, density, urban streets, pathways, trails, trees etc should be included in the Sutherland Plan, especially as regards Dornoch.

It seems that the suburban sprawl that has disfigured the outskirts of many Highland towns can only be restrained by a return to the old, well tried and successful urban designs of the past. Developers in turn need to be guided by policies enshrined in the plan. Failure to do so has been a significant factor in bad new town development.

Yours faithfully

Duncan Allen
